You say she was gone for good
When she walked out the door
She said she couldn't take it anymore
So, wipe those tears from your eyes
Let me give you some advice
Remember this has happened before

Ever since she left that day
It's been stormy weather
Time after time, I found you cryin'
Tryin' to forget her
Now she wants to come back home
You're gonna go and let her
You know, I know, you know better

Tell me friend, are you so vain
You're all wrapped up, in her game
Believing all those lies in her letter
I've told you once, I've told you twice
I'll tell you again
You know, I know, you know better
